

Every product that enters our lives has what they call a “hidden history.”

